To that wise counselor, friend, and father in Theta Delta Chi, who, through long hoping and perseverence, accomplished the establishment of the Chi Deuteron Charge, and who, throughout her existence, in days of weakness as in days of strength, has been ever ready with kindly and generous helpfulness and encouragement, this little volume is affectionately dedicated.

PREFACE

REALIZING our need as a body for a catalogue which should show the salient facts concerning the entire membership, and with a purpose to bring the brothers—scattered to the four corners of the states and abroad—into closer relationship, the Executive Committee of the Chi Deuteron Graduate Association has determined to publish this catalogue. The committee hopes that its efforts may not only fulfil the first condition, but in some measure effect the second.

Mistakes are to be expected; for the ordinary difficulty of compiling a roster has been heightened in this instance by the failure of twelve graduate brothers to fill in the printed form sent them, more than once, by the committee, as well as by insufficient information due to other causes. The committee trusts, however, that in reinforcement of its efforts toward fuller fraternity cooperation, each brother who discovers an error will feel it to be his duty to acquaint the secretary with the true facts. Subsequent catalogues will then be more nearly correct.

The committee wishes to acknowledge cordial assistance from Brothers M. Ashford, H. T.

Domer, W. M. Gilbert, J. E. Lamb, W. H. Lee, L. Powell, D. H. Smith, W. J. Turkenton, W. K. West, and J. W. Whiting. Their help greatly facilitated the compilation of the catalogue.

In conclusion, the committee offers this publication for your consideration. The undertaking necessitated a great deal of hard work on the part of its members; all of it was cheerfully done in the hope that through it the body of Chi Deuteron men might be brought shoulder to shoulder in the general labor of the Fraternity, and that each of us might strive to add another stone to the temple of Theta Delta Chi. For to her aggrandizement we should all hold ourselves to be consecrated.

HISTORY OF CHI DEUTERON

THE one hundredth member was added to the rolls of Chi Deuteron on April 13, 1907. Following such an event, it seems fitting that the brothers should cast their minds back over the history of their Charge, and briefly trace its progress to the station of to-day.

"Loving and tireless energy!" If the keynote to the life of Chi Deuteron be asked, it may be found in these words.

Difficulties great enough to dishearten men of less devotion than the Father of Chi Deuteron, attended its organization. It is needless here to dwell upon the determination of Brother Dr. Sterrett that the blessings of Theta Delta Chi should not be denied chosen sons of old Columbian College.

As early as 1892 a number of students petitioned for the establishment of a charge in Columbian College. The petition was rejected, yet a more determined effort, in which were associated two of the original petitioners, Pyne and Davis, was made before the convention of 1896, the movement having the hearty active support of Brother Dr. Sterrett, and of the members of the Southern Graduate Association. The appeal was successful, and on March 26, 1896, Chi Deuteron was instituted and became a fact, President Harstrom officiating at the ceremony of installation.

The first four presidents of Chi Deuteron, Brothers Playter, Mason, H. H. D. Sterrett, and Peelle, whose combined terms of office extended from March 26, 1896, to May 27, 1899, were charter members, and the ardent spirit of fraternalism and the high idealism cultivated within that period placed a foundation firm enough to withstand the trials and tribulations of future years. Indeed, scarcely two years had rolled by before a first discouragement faced the young Charge, in a tendency among Columbian men to drift away to other institutions after a partial course at the city college. Cornell, West Point, and Princeton alone, claimed five of our men in the first three years of the Charge. This tendency has never greatly decreased, and has continually proven a source of weakness in the field of fraternity activities at what is now George Washington University—the name of the college having been changed by act of Congress, to take effect September, 1902. The optimist may be allowed to hope, however, that the brighter future of the University itself holds the solution to this problem.

The collegiate year 1899-1900 was signalized by holding the annual convention in Washington. The high standard of the Charge was maintained, but for the first time the question of finances seriously interfered with the effectual running of the Charge—it was then that the Southern Graduate Association discontinued monthly payments for the use of the rooms occupied by the Charge. It was also in this year that the question of admission of professional school students was agitated for the first time—because of lack of suitable material in the other branches of work at Columbian.

The opening of the collegiate year, 1900-01, therefore, found the Charge in poor condition financially and with few members. However, through the able and economic administration of Brother Horace Ashford, and the devotion of all the active brothers, the end of the year found the Charge in better circumstances. It was a strange coincidence that within these two years the Charge should suffer the loss of both its fifth and sixth presidents, a blow from which it has, perhaps, never fully recovered. Indeed, if there is one page in the history of Chi Deuteron that shines more brightly than the rest, it is the page recording the names of our presidents, from early times down to the present. Not one, in the now fast-lengthening list, has accepted the office without realizing that the position is one no less of labor than of honor.

In the fall of 1901 the brothers attempted for the first time to maintain a house. They were ably supported by the Chi Deuteron Graduate Association, an association organized at that time for the special purpose of cooperating and advising in Charge affairs. In spite of all efforts, however, at the end of two years the Charge was in debt, and small membership again made it necessary to seek other quarters.

Perhaps the darkest period in the history of the Active Charge was at the opening of college in October, 1903, and it testified strongly to abiding fraternal spirit that the heavy odds were combated and overcome by the small band of survivors.

History repeated itself. The Charge was again placed upon its feet, and with a strong force of willing workers, for the second time, entered a house in the fall of 1904.

From that time to the present, by means of strenuous and continuous effort on the part of the active members and with the timely aid of graduates, the Charge has maintained a house and met expenses. A united effort to raise a house fund has developed well, and indications point to continued success for the Charge.

So the good struggle has gone on. Each year's Charge has had its own problems to face, but has not feared to face them. At one time the problem centered around the maintenance of a house; at another time the question of membership has been the perplexing one; then, again, finances have proven the stumbling block. Through it all, however, instead of being detrimental to the growth of the Charge, these problems have worked to bind the men more closely together, to make them more earnest in their labors for the Fraternity, and in every sense worthy of the name it bears.

After all, it is the caliber of the men whom Chi Deuteron has sent out, which is the best and only criterion of the worth of the Charge to the Fraternity, the University, and the community. Although the Charge is young, the field of occupations and the territorial distributions of Chi Deuteron men prove the sphere and extent of its influence.

Where can a hundred men be found—scattered as they seem to be now—whose lives have yet been linked in more loyal and permanent fashion? These eleven years have seen a spirit of unity and mutual helpfulness that has made the bonds of Theta Delta Chi sacred to us all.

In the future, when our Charge owns its house, when the active Charge shall contain the sons of many a Chi Deuteron graduate, still the memory of our first years will be well worth the telling—both as happy recollections of bygone times, and as an inspiration to harmony and fraternal zeal.

THE CHI DEUTERON GRADUATE ASSOCIATION

THE opening of the twentieth century marked the beginning of a new era in the career of Theta Delta Chi. Prior to that time all activity had centered in and about the Charge. Now it was realized that the graduates might be organized to good purpose, and the formation of Charge Graduate Associations was the result. Their success is evidenced by the fact that at the present time nearly every Charge in the Fraternity has its regularly organized body of graduates. These associations have filled a great need in the Fraternity, and their importance is steadily growing.

Realizing something of this need of our own Charge, four brothers, in the fall of 1901, took steps to form our Graduate Association. These brothers were J. Henry Altschu, Stanton C. Peelle, George G. Chase, and Harry T. Domer.

Chi Deuteron was five years old. The graduates were increasing in number and were becoming widely scattered, so that the old-time personal touch was practically impossible. The Charge also needed help, encouragement, and advice. It was most natural, then, and fitting, that the graduates should bind themselves together and unite their support and backing to the Charge. The Chi Deuteron Graduate Association was therefore projected, and its early organization made it one of the pioneers of the graduate-association movement.

The first meeting was held at the Charge House, 1023 Fifteenth Street Northwest, Washington, D. C., on Saturday evening, October 26, 1901. A number of graduates were present and united in the formation of the association. In the by-laws adopted at this meeting, the purpose of the new association was declared to be "to unite more closely the graduates of the Chi Deuteron Charge; to increase their interest in the Charge and in the Fraternity, and to lend its counsel and support thereto when necessary." Any graduated initiate or affiliate of the Chi Deuteron Charge was eligible for membership in the association, as likewise were any other brothers of Theta Delta Chi, who should express a desire to join.

True to its purpose, besides having been of considerable financial assistance to the active Charge, the association has lent its support, cooperation, and advice, mainly through its able secretary, whenever action was deemed necessary between meetings of the association.

Furthermore, the association has been instrumental, in cooperation with the Southern Graduate Association, in rendering service to the Grand Lodge in questions relating to the reestablishment of Southern Charges. Its efforts were particularly useful in encouraging the revival of interest at the College of William and Mary.

Again, the association has done much to inaugurate and foster certain customs and annual occurrences which in some cases remain peculiar to Chi Deuteron. The first banquet was held on December 26, 1901, and since then this has become an annual event, at which it is now customary to have present both active and graduate brothers, and also the President of the Grand Lodge, the banquet being so arranged as to be held at the time of his visitation.

Meetings of the association have been held annually for the election of officers and transaction of other business. Special meetings for varied purposes have also been held upon call of the president.

On May 30, 1902, the first memorial service was held, Brother H. H. D. Sterrett, in charge, the brothers gathering to pay tribute to the memory of Brothers Lindsay and Ashford. As the years have passed the number of brothers who have entered the Omega Charge has grown steadily larger, so that it is no longer possible for the association to attend and hold services as a body at the grave of each departed brother. Consequently the practise has been subsequently adopted of sending a deputation of brothers to hold a service at each grave.

On February 14, 1905, the association held a reception in the Charge House, to the relatives and friends of the members of the Active Charge. The event was a great success and did much to help the Charge in the college world. This should be made an annual occurrence.

Whereas the association has not accomplished so much actual work, its influence upon the Charge has been most beneficial. The moral support which has been offered by the graduate brothers, organized with the avowed purpose of interest in even the small affairs which are important, and make a large part of the life of the Active Charge, has been a source of untold strength and encouragement to the Charge.

THE CHI DEUTERON FUND

THE Chi Deuteron Fund is a sort of financial reservoir, into which is diverted, and in which is stored, a small portion of the energy of each undergraduate as he passes through the period of active life in the Charge. Its creation was the outcome of the belief which had grown on active men and graduates in touch with the Charge, that the alternation of one or two years of prosperity with one or more of depression should not be allowed to continue when, by proper regulation and control, a continuous condition of financial soundness might be produced.

Each man, upon entering the Charge, agrees to pay $15 at once, which amount goes to the Charge treasury, and $10 some time before graduation or separation for other reasons from the Charge, which goes to the Chi Deuteron Fund. At the time of the adoption of this idea—May, 1906—all graduates of the Charge were invited to subscribe to the fund, and many have either done so or indicated an intention to do so in the near future. Also the Chi Deuteron Graduate Association has voted an annual subscription of $10, but necessarily the chief source of income must be from the active men of the present and future.

The control of the fund is in the hands of three trustees, two graduates and one undergraduate. The graduate trustees are elected on alternate years, each for a term of two years, one by the Chi Deuteron Graduate Association, and one from a list of nominees furnished to the Active Charge by the Graduate Association.

The use of the fund is prescribed by the by-law creating it. The principal is to be invested and kept intact, and may be used only in case of the erection of a Charge House, to which project all, or so much of the principal as may be necessary, may be devoted. The interest on the principal may be used for expenses incidental to the management of the fund, and for current expenses of the Charge, on requisition from the Charge, approved by the trustees, when such expenses are proper ones and the Charge needs the assistance.

The fund will help to make healthy and strong the source of membership in the Fraternity, for which we are responsible. It will give to the initiates of the future the feeling that they have come into an institution which is lasting, and that those members who shall have gone before them have cared so much for this institution that they have made provision for its continuous strength and prosperity.

REPRESENTATION IN THE GRAND LODGE

WALTER MERWIN GILBERT, president of the Charge, 1906-07, is the first Chi Deuteron brother elected to the Grand Lodge. By the fifty-ninth convention, held in New York City, in February, 1907, he was unanimously chosen to be secretary of the Fraternity's governing body during its thirty-ninth term.

From the day of his initiation, November 9, 1905, Brother Gilbert's interest in Theta Delta Chi has been earnest and practically productive. As president, his administration was marked by an exceptional organizing ability, and a faculty for enlisting the strength of his brothers of the Active Charge. He awoke the undergraduates to a full sense of individual responsibility, roused them to their best efforts in behalf of the Fraternity, and led them in establishing Chi Deuteron in the best quarters the Charge has ever had.

The choice of the convention thus not only gave Chi Deuteron the unaffected and sincere satisfaction of being represented at its best, but promised the Grand Lodge an effective, resolute, and wholly creditable administration of its secretary's office.

JOHN HENRY ALTSCHU

Brother Altschu was born October 19, 1876, in Washington, D. C. He passed through the public schools of that city and graduated from the Central High School with the classes of 1894 and 1895, receiving two diplomas. After leaving the High School he entered the Columbian College, and graduated in 1899, with the degree of bachelor of arts. In the fall of '99 Brother Altschu entered the law school of the same university and graduated in 1902, with the degree of bachelor of laws. He was admitted to the bar of the District of Columbia immediately after graduation and then, having decided to practise his profession in the western states, went to Springfield, Ohio, and passed the bar examination for that state, but finally located in St. Louis, where he was also admitted to the bar, and where he practised his profession with every indication that a career of unusual promise seemed to open before him, to the time of his death. An inexorable fate, however, willed it otherwise. On the afternoon of Saturday, July 8, 1905, he was drowned while canoeing on the Merrimac River. He was buried in Oak Hill Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Brother Altschu was initiated into the Chi Deuteron Charge on November 22, 1897. He at once took a leading part in the Charge's affairs. After his graduation he was one of the organizers of the Chi Deuteron Graduate Association and its first president.

As a fraternity man Brother Atlschu was a power. He was a believer in the principles of our order, and made them a part of his life. His was a high conception of what Theta Delta Chi stood for. He loved his Fraternity, he loved his Charge. There was nothing mean or ignoble in him; everything was clear-cut, straightforward, true. He formed his opinions and reached his decisions independently, and, his stand once taken, nothing could budge him from it. This made him a thorough leader and a counselor who was often called upon for advice, not only on matters pertaining to the common welfare, but also in cases peculiar to the individual brothers. And the same sympathy which caused him to be ever willing to aid, and interested in every brother's welfare, the same strength and the same influence, he carried into the wider affairs of life. He kept the fountains of his mind and his heart and his soul always pure, making the stream of life one of sparkling clearness, and of refreshing vigor, whose influence ennobled and inspired all whom it touched.

And with all this strength and purity, there was no loss of joy and goodfellowship. He was most companionable, bubbling over with fun. A deep student rather than a brilliant one, Brother Altschu had to dig for what he got, but once mastered, it became a part of him. And this trait was characteristic. It entered into all of his activities and made him self-reliant, patient, persevering, aggressive, and generally successful.

He heard the command of the Apostle—"Quit you like men; be strong."

HORACE FROST ASHFORD

Brother Ashford was born in Washington, D. C., September 3, 1879. He attended the public schools of his native city, and in the fall of 1897 entered the Columbian College, where he won a goodly number of college honors, being president of his Senior Class. After declining an invitation from our chief rival at that time, he was taken into Chi Deuteron early in the scholastic year 1898-99. He served three years of unceasing activity and zeal for the welfare of Chi Deuteron, being her president in his senior year. An excellent student, honored and respected by instructors and class-mates alike, he endeavored to turn all the honors that came to him during his collegiate career to the glory of the cause he loved, and the permanent hold Chi Deuteron has to-day in the traditions and associations of her Alma Mater is largely due to the work and accomplishments of such Thetas as he. In the Charge he was a constant source of strength and inspiration. His thought was ever for the good of the Fraternity, and association with him was always an influence for good with his fellows in the Charge. His work and love for Chi Deuteron have come down to those of us who follow him as a sort of benediction. It is the presence of such names as Brother Ashford's on Chi Deuteron's roll that makes us proud of our Charge.

Shortly after his graduation, Brother Ashford organized a group of Chi Deuteron boys into a camping party, and with them he spent the summer of 1901 in the mountains of West Virginia. Early in the fall he was forced to leave camp. Returning to Washington, he was taken ill with acute failure of the heart, from which he died

November 17, 1901. He is buried in Rock Creek Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Sons of Chi Deuteron need feel naught but pride as they point to his name, and say: "It is such men as this that we have made Theta Delts." Brother Ashford gave his life for Theta Delta Chi as surely as any man ever gave his life to a cause, and though he is gone, the influence of his life will always remain to bless the Charge and the Fraternity which he loved.

MELVILLE WILMER LINDSAY

Brother Lindsay was born in Alexandria, Va., January 27, 1879. After completing a course in local private and public schools he entered Columbian College in 1896. He was initiated into Chi Deuteron the same year, the first collegiate year after the installation of the Charge. He graduated from the college in 1900, receiving the Degree of B.A. The following fall he entered the Medical School of the University. Soon after the end of his first year in the Medical School, he was stricken with appendicitis, and died July 6, 1901. His body is interred in the Presbyterian Cemetery of Alexandria, Va.

Immediately upon his initiation Brother Lindsay became an ardent and faithful worker for the Fraternity, and there is no doubt that his gentle, kindly nature influenced greatly the early life of the Charge. He possessed many very different qualities in a way which made him a remarkable man. He was gentle, modest, and unselfish, and, at the same time, firm in his stand for the right and his belief. Perhaps the two qualities which endeared him most to his fellow men, aside from his sterling worth, were his never-failing sympathy and humor. The boys all went to "Mel" with their troubles for sympathy and help, and before the talk ended they were laughing with him over the matter. He was a conscientious student and a Christian gentleman. Brother Lindsay was one of those strong and lovable characters whose membership in our Charge in the days of her early life has established the sound and lasting spirit of true manliness that is the keynote of our traditions and present ideals.

ROBERT BLAINE PURCELL

Brother Purcell was born at the Purcell homestead, Rockbridge, in Loudoun County, Virginia, on December 2, 1881. Nearly all of his life was passed in Washington, D. C., the family having moved there soon after his birth. He attended the public schools of the Capital, graduating in June, 1903, from the Central High School, where he had taken a prominent part in athletics and other student activities, and had been deservedly one of the most popular men in his class. Shortly after graduating from the high school, he entered the engineering service of the District Government, and in the fall of the same year, 1903, he took up the arduous task of the toiler by day and the student by night, entering the Washington School of Engineering, in the George Washington University. Brother Purcell was initiated into the Chi Deuteron Charge of our Fraternity on the 10th of November, 1904. On June 24, 1906, while canoeing on the Potomac with a friend and former schoolmate, W. Dick Dear, Brother Purcell and his companion were carried over a dam by the unexpected strength of the current of the swollen river, and Brother Purcell was drowned; Mr. Dear barely escaping with his life. His body is interred in the Reformed Church Cemetery, near Lovettsville, Loudoun County, Virginia.

Brother Purcell was a man of positive, virile character, and, while not in any sense assertive, his character and tastes were, nevertheless, felt and admired by all who came in contact with him. His fellows in the Fraternity respected, loved, and honored him, and feel that in his death they have suffered such a loss as is occasioned only by the death of a strong, capable, and right man.

ROBERT DAVID WEAVER, JR.

Brother Weaver was born in Washington, D. C., March 15, 1885. He attended the public schools of the Capital, graduating from the Western High School in June, 1904. The following fall he entered the Washington School of Engineering, of the George Washington University. Shortly after his matriculation in the University he was pledged by Chi Deuteron, and was initiated on November 10, 1904. Brother Weaver had not been in the Charge a month before his failing health made it necessary for him to withdraw from college. In the January following he left Washington, going first South, and then, after a short return to Washington, West. Despite his courageous struggle, however, he continued to lose ground, and so, in the spring of 1905, he again returned to Washington, where he entered the Omega Charge on April 25, 1905, dying from consumption. His body was interred in Oak Hill Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Brother Weaver's career in the Charge was a short one, but it is a time to which those who knew him, and particularly his classmates, love to look back. Gentle and kindly in demeanor, sympathetic with his fellows, and guiding himself consistently and truly by his own ideals, he won the love and respect of the brothers who knew him, and in his death those of us of the Charge of '04-'05 felt that we had indeed lost a brother and a true friend.
